

GREEN POLICY

The success of Timberbush Tours is heavily dependent on the enduring appeal of Scotland's natural heritage to its visitors. At Timberbush Tours we aim to achieve the objective of working in a sustainable way through maximising environmental performance, increasing staff awareness and through continuous improvement. We have joined the Green Tourism Business Scheme as an indicator of our sustainable practices and we undertake to adhere to the environmental principles set out below

- *To comply with the requirements of environmental legislation approved codes of practice.
- *To seek continuously to improve our environmental and social performance.
- *To reduce pollution, emissions and waste and to reduce our use of energy, water and other resources by the continual implementation of reduce, re-use and re-cycle procedures.
- *To raise awareness, encourage participation and train our employees in sustainable business practices.
- *To expect similar environmental standards from our suppliers and contractors.
- *To assist our customers to use products and services in an environmentally sensitive way.
- *To liaise with the local community.
- *To minimise the risks associated with social and environmental issues.
- *To contribute to efforts to maintain and improve Scotland's built and natural heritage.
